P.S.

Volume 15 of MODERN PACKAGING speaks for itself—it has brought you, throughout the past year, a complete coverage of packaging in wartime.

Converting its editorial policy to meet the needs of packagers, and of national defense, MODERN PACKAGING has been first in war as it was first in peace—with the latest news of priorities, substitute materials, new packaging techniques, and all of the vital information that every packager needs to stay in business.

As a new volume in MODERN PACKAGING's career is opened, packagers have come to know that they can rely, without question, on the completeness and the authenticity of information they get from MODERN PACKAGING.

The editorial staff pledges continued adherence to the principles upon which the magazine has been established: giving the reliable information first.
